

SHORT WEIGHT BUTTER PACKAGES

Next Legislature is to Be Asked To Take up Creamery Misdemeanors.

BILL IS TO BE PRESENTED.

Senator John Seely Has Been Selected to Champion the Cause Of the Domestic Housewife

The next legislature is to be asked to take up the matter of butter weights, and labels on alleged pound packages of the product. This is the practice of growing complaint that the practice of short weighing pound packages of butter is again getting extensive vogue in Salt Lake, following its abandonment because of too much publicity two years ago. A housewife who lives in the southern part of Salt Lake bought a few days ago a package of butter wrapped in a heavy cardboard case. The declaration on the package was that it was packed by the Jones company and the state law demanding that butter packages show the weight of the contents was fulfilled in the original manner of factory advertising. The short weight by declaring that when leaving the factory it "weighed" to a figure under a full pound. Actually the butter weighed 12 ounces when stripped of its outer coating of cardboard, which is just three-fourths of what it should have weighed.

The agitation will probably take the form of a bill to be presented to the next legislature strengthening the present law concerning full weight packages and labels. Senator John Seely has taken much interest in the matter and as he is a holdover senator, he will probably be asked to present amendments to the present law, which is of his own drafting. The bill is so far as the defense of the short-weight package by arguing that the butter has "shrunk" in weight after leaving the factory, has any basis in fact. It is because the butter was "water-logged" by being surcharged with moisture which had evaporated between the date of leaving the factory and being sold in the retail market. The protection of the public and its faith in pound weights and measures will be the end sought by the new amendments.

LAST PERFORMANCE.

The floral festival closes this afternoon with a repetition of last night's program, which included the performance of nearly 500 children. Fancy dancing was the feature of the festival, which a specialty by Miss Anton Jones. "Love's Young Dream" was repeated, and the mikado dance was given by the boys. Later in the evening dancing was provided for all present.

INSPECTED AT FT. DOUGLAS.

Major General Franklin Bell, Chief of Staff, Visits Barracks.

Major General Franklin Bell, chief of staff of the army and wife arrived from the Yellowstone yesterday, and were met at the depot by General Manager Bancroft and General Passenger Agent Burley of the Short Line, who showed the visitors around the city in an automobile, after luncheon at the Alta club. General Bell then visited Fort Douglas, which he inspected. He said work on the two new double barracks for the garrison and residence story room would begin in the near future. He was entirely uncertain as to the probable action of Congress in the proposal to restore the cantonment, and said army officers had lost heart in the matter. He was convinced that agitation did no good. General and Mrs. Bell will attend the Irrigation Congress at Albuquerque.

POLICE ARREST NEGRO.

Claims That Colored Man is "Spotter" For Sheriff Emery.

L. W. Winston, a negro, was taken into custody last night by the police on suspicion of being a man wanted in Colorado for murder. Winston resembles the man wanted and he was taken into the detectives room and closely questioned after which he was released. The arrest of the man gave rise to the statement that he had been acting as a "spotter" for sheriff Emery and that the police were trying to secure some information from him about the plans of the sheriff. After Winston had been "sweated" he was asked for a statement but would not admit to doing that he had been assisting the sheriff. Sheriff Emery stated that he had received a communication from Winston but did not say what it was. It is the general belief that the colored man has been helping the sheriff and it is quite likely that others have assisted in locating some of the parasites who have been complained of so much during the past few days.

Detective "Jim" Taylor was stricken with paralysis about 7:30 o'clock this morning, and is now in a precarious condition at his home, 1224 Second avenue. The attack came without the least warning, as a few minutes before he was chatting with his wife, apparently enjoying the best of health. He stepped into the bathroom and a little later was found lying helpless and speechless upon the floor.

Medical aid was at once summoned, and Mr. Taylor's condition was pronounced to be most serious. As he is a young man and unusually robust, his chances for recovery are much better than they otherwise would be. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor attended the theater last night, and there was nothing then nor early this morning to indicate the collapse that followed. After arising about 6:30 o'clock, he laughed and joked with members of the family about incidents of the show, in his usual good mood. Mr. Taylor's partner in the Interior Department, Detective Agency, Capt. John E. Burbridge, is laid up at home with a broken leg, which he received last week ago in an automobile accident in Parley's canyon. He is getting along nicely however, and expects to be on his feet in a few days. Mr. J. Burton, an attaché of the office, is up to his ears in work connected with the firm's affairs.

Mrs. Taylor and Burbridge were for many years connected with the police department, and were considered among the city's best officers. Both were let out some time ago by the "inner circle" of the "American" administration, for the "good of the service," which merely means that they were not members of the party of mal-administration, and with this state of affairs unimpeachable records as public officials counted for nothing.

Y. M. C. A. DEMONSTRATION.

At the Central Christian church Sunday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, the full staff of the Y. M. C. A. will give an outline of the season's work of that institution. In the various departments, there are about 500 students, and in showing what is undertaken by each class, 100 stereoscopic views will be employed. A general invitation to witness the function is extended to the public.

CAR LINE TO COUNTRY CLUB.

Surveyors are at work preparing the road for the extension of the Ashton avenue car line to the Country Club. The track will be removed from Ashton avenue and the street graded. Ninth street will probably be improved to correspond with seventh, which is now one of the best roads in the southeast section. The town council of Forest Dale is active in its efforts in obtaining railroad improvements for franchises, which will be of great value to the street railway in future years.

HAD A STORMY VOYAGE.

M. and Mrs. M. H. Walker Return From Europe on "Mauretania."

After a voyage across the Atlantic long to be remembered, Mr. and Mrs. H. Walker are again at home. They sailed from European shores on the Cunard liner Mauretania. Though the latter part of the ocean trip was stormy, all went well until noon, Thursday, Sept. 17, when suddenly the passengers were struck with consternation at the peculiar actions of the ship. The great hulk trembled from bow to stern and seemed about to break her back. From the bridge the captain communicated the fact that one of the propellers had broken, but assured that there was no danger imminent. The captain, says Mr. Walker, was cool and collected, inspiring confidence by his demeanor, and with an iron hand the vessel was kept steady. That hour, however, seemed almost an age to many of the frightened passengers. Next day Sandy Hook was sighted, but owing to a dense fog that prevailed, the Mauretania did not reach her moorings until Saturday. Early in the voyage had passed the La Savoy, a French fast liner, and the latter entered the harbor at New York, and the fog was at her dock several hours ahead of the Mauretania.

AUTOMOBILE SMASHUP

Careless Chauffeur Wrecks a Hack And Puts a Street Car Out of Commission.

A careless automobile driver all but put a street car out of commission last night, and at the same time broke off the wheel of a passing hack. The incident occurred on South Temple, between West Temple and First West, the street car being in the charge of Conductor C. Halterman and Motorman George Thompson, while Tony Arnold was driving the carriage team. The auto was No. 605, but the identity of the driver has not yet been ascertained. The big machine struck the front step of the street car, smashing it to a considerable extent. In backing the auto, it struck the hack, in which were four women. A wheel was wrenched off the vehicle, but no one was hurt. The automobilist did not linger, but drove rapidly away. The machine was later located in a garage, but the attendant was mum as to who had it in charge. Auto car No. 605, that figured in the smashup, belonged to J. B. Peery, but the owner had nothing to do with the affair and knew nothing of it until this morning.

There were formerly in the employ of Peery as chauffeur a young man named Charles Love, whom Mr. Peery accuses of having taken the machine from the Temple garage without the owner's consent. Peery says that he will cause Love to be prosecuted for theft of the auto.

TWO MORE ARRESTED.

Couple of Women Picked up on Streets By Sheriff's Forces.

As a result of last night's sleuthing by Sheriff Emery's deputies two women were arrested on the streets. Mrs. Gerlie Black, and Beatrice Martin, Mrs. Black was shortly released on $300 bail by Justice F. M. Bishop, but the Martin woman is still in jail. Each of the women was charged with vagrancy. All the "sporting" houses on Victoria alley and Commercial street were dark last night. Amy Johnson, the woman who escaped from the deputy sheriffs Thursday afternoon, has not yet been recaptured.

AMUSEMENTS.

Miss Berkhoel's Recital—The large number of performances by local talent of late and the heavy opposition at the theater last night, combined to prevent the attendance at Miss Berkhoel's recital from being all it should have been; nevertheless there was a fair audience, made up of representative and critical people in attendance at the Methodist church. Miss Berkhoel's program was selected from a wide range of songs, including English, German, French, Latin and Italian, and ran from the light "nonsense" rhymes up to difficult numbers like the aria from Mozart's "Titus." Throughout the whole range, Miss Berkhoel acquitted herself delightfully, and her mezzo-soprano tones were given a beautiful play in the selections she made. It would be hard to select the special number deserving of highest praise, but generally speaking her most artistic work was done in her German songs, "The Sapphic Ode" by Brahms, and the "Moonlight" song by Halle, being specially charming. The latter was a gem of exquisite feeling. Hardly a note was sung but the French number "L'Esclavage" by Lalo and "The Years of Spring" was a fine burst of melody. Miss Berkhoel was capably assisted by Mrs. Peters, whose high soprano voice blended excellently with her own in the "Stabat Mater" duet, the runs in which were executed as if they came from a flute. Mrs. Peters herself sang several charming numbers, best of which were the graceful "Stolen Wings," and the telling number by Parker, "The Lark Now Leaves Its Watery Nest."

After the final rendition of the Titus number, excellently rendered by Miss Berkhoel, she was called back and made bow to the plaudits of the audience.

Mr. Edward P. Kimball accompanied both on the piano and the organ, subordinating the instrument to the singers in tasteful and correct fashion. The organ accompaniment to the duet was specially good.

SHEEP DIPPING CIRCULAR.

State Commissioners Sending Out Letters Advising Flockmasters to Dip.

The state sheep commissioners are sending out the following circular letter advising the dipping of sheep this fall, and suggesting plans for maintaining the present good condition of the flock.

Sept. 22, 1908.—Dear Sir: Believing it to be essential that all sheep in the state be dipped this fall in order to maintain the present satisfactory condition of our sheep, we earnestly request you to dip your flock before taking them upon the winter range. A like request is made of sheep men who keep a few sheep in feed lots, in order to keep your flock free from ticks and other parasites, which are not a doubt but what the sheep will be found in a most satisfactory condition next spring.

A great deal of money has been spent and much work done in eradicating scab among our sheep and we believe, as to a great majority of the sheepmen in the state, that the proper precaution to take this fall is to dip all sheep. Our sheep are in good condition and much care must be taken, and particularly now, to keep them free from ticks and other parasites of our old work over again.

About 60 per cent of the sheepmen think it proper and are in favor of dipping this fall, and many requests have been made to the board to issue a circular in view of the fact that we have not near enough money on hand to defray the expenses of such a dipping, no such order will be issued. However, we would have liked to have issued such an order for the dipping of all sheep. Rams, of course, will be dipped in accordance with an order issued from this office.

That you will comply with the above request and use your influence with your neighbors to dip all sheep, we trust you will do.

DEATH OF GEO. H. SNEEGROVE.

After Years of Suffering Well-known Business Man Succumbs to Cancer.

After several years intense suffering from the ravages of cancer of the face, George H. Snelgrove, a well known business man, died shortly before 6 o'clock this morning, at his residence, 225 Fifth East street, of a heart attack.

In recent years, this one seemed to be a blessing as ending the physical anguish of an afflicted man. It is now several years since Mr. Snelgrove was stricken with the slow but sure germ of death. He witnessed its progress manfully and patiently, going about his daily duties faithfully and seeking every known remedy for relief. Friends saw his heroism and were witnesses of the fact that day by day his once splendid physique was dwindling and that the end was near. He was a less courageous man would, with his own hands, have ended the struggle long ago, but Mr. Snelgrove waited the natural termination of his suffering. His last trip from home was two weeks ago, when he went to a new building he was erecting on First South street. There he fainted and was taken home in a carriage, no more to leave the premises.

Mr. Snelgrove is survived by a widow and three children. The latter are Howard H., a son, and Bessie and Bernice, two daughters. He was born Oct. 1, 1854. For a period of 27 years he was connected with the firm of S. P. Teasdale and Co., of Salt Lake, and for 21 years was manager of the clothing department of that institution. Later he was a resident agent for a Chicago clothing house, and when he returned to Salt Lake he conducted him to the time that illness compelled him to retire.

The funeral will be held from the residence Sunday, commencing at 3 o'clock. Friends are invited to attend. Interment will take place in the city cemetery.

MARTIN ESCAPES FINE.

A most amazing state of affairs was discovered last yesterday afternoon when the case of the city v. D. Martin, charged with using abusive language toward Charles Crane, was tried. The motion made to dismiss was denied by Judge Diehl and the trial was proceeded with. After the testimony was all in Judge Diehl found Martin guilty and was about to pass sentence upon him when Atty. Joseph Lippman sprung the surprise of the day in making a motion on the grounds that the defendant had never entered a plea of guilty or not guilty. The records were examined and it was found that the prosecuting attorney had entirely overlooked this important fact and therefore no sentence could be pronounced and the motion was sustained and Martin discharged.

When McDonald gave up candies for the exclusive manufacture of chocolates it was no hazzard experiment. He had made chocolates for years. He knew he could go just so far and no futher in the develop-

He knew it would be necessary to buy the highest priced materials—make chocolates in bigger, different way. He secured the requisite help, the new machinery, the best of materials—thas he modernized his factory throughout. McDonald found he had to spend money—but he got QUALITY, and it is that quality that makes Merry Widow Chocolates preferable to any other.
